

GERMAN NATIONALISM, NATIONAL SOCIALISM AND POSTWAR RECONSTRUCTION 1918–1949

Resources from the University of California, Berkeley

This important microfiche collection contains 1,428 titles published from 1918 to 1949 by various National Socialist German Workers' Party (NSDAP) organizations and their precursors, as well as by publishers sympathetic to the Nazi Party and regime. The materials depict the political and social crises that led to the rise of National Socialism in Germany as they were expressed in everyday contemporary society.

The materials range from administrative reports of the Third Reich to mass-market propaganda in the form of pamphlets, popular magazines and booklets. Among the dozens of topics covered by this wide array of material are the establishment of Nazi organs, the implementation of pre-Weimar Nazi policy and the postwar dismantling of the Party organizations.

The collection features numerous politically influenced training manuals from the Deutsche Arbeitsfront (workers' and employers' union), texts of NSDAP-inspired laws, legal commentaries and handbooks, as well as materials concerning German-occupied and annexed territories.

"Europe's Struggle Against Bolshevism and English Imperialism" (National Socialist geopolitical map)

Many works are dedicated to the image and politics of Adolf Hitler—some are attributed to Hitler himself, and others to major figures of the Nazi Party and Third Reich. This resource also contains publications and documents that were produced by anti-Nazi organizations or commentators who opposed Nazism—both during and after the collapse of the Third Reich.

After World War II, possession of such material in Germany and former occupied territories by ordinary citizens came to be incriminating evidence of Nazi sympathies, and much material of this nature was destroyed as a result. Consequently, the material in the present collection is rarely held by research libraries and is difficult to obtain for scholarly purposes. Approximately twenty percent of the publications preserved in the collection are the only copies known to exist; the remainder exist in extremely limited numbers and are found in only a handful of institutions in Europe and North America.

Though much of the content—and even the existence of these materials—may be deemed offensive, the collection forms an important historical record and constitutes a surprisingly complete body of documentary evidence of the propaganda, financial, political and social apparatus behind the Nazi regime. The publications, which are in excellent and legible condition, have been stored under special restricted access and have been circulated sparingly to readers as part of an uncataloged backlog for over 50 years.

The fiche collection is organized topically with an introduction to each section provided in the Printed Guide by James H. Spohrer, Librarian for the Germanic Collections, Doe Memorial Library, University of California, Berkeley.
