About This Catalog

The Library of Congress collects the most important papers published in the United States to serve the information needs of Congress and researchers. The Regional Newspaper Catalog contains a listing, by state, of the newspapers which the Library of Congress currently collects and permanently retains. The Library of Congress newspaper collection includes newspapers for a general audience and newspapers published for, by and about various ethnic groups. All of these newspapers are included in the collection because of their national and regional scope, journalistic quality and perspectives.

These authoritative newspapers are excellent additions to your library's collection:

- Public librarians can use this guide to determine the top regional papers to collect for a record of local events, genealogy research, local industry news, and to meet the information needs of local ethnic populations.
- Academic librarians can use this list to choose the preeminent newspapers for researchers studying local communities and ethnic groups.
- The Regional Newspaper Catalog also has an additional function. Librarians can use it to determine which newspapers the Library of Congress does not collect. Because the Library of Congress holds libraries responsible for collecting local newspapers, The Regional Newspaper Catalog simplifies the task of choosing which newspapers to collect, depending on your library's objectives.

Contact your UMI representative at umsalesinfo@il.proquest.com for information concerning the titles in this catalog available from UMI.

The Advantages of Microform

Despite the continually developing array of digital technologies—and sometimes because of it—information professionals at libraries and universities worldwide still rely on microform. They know it is an archival medium that will meet the needs of researchers for years to come. Microform provides many advantages including:

- Durability on a Budget - archived properly, it can last for generations, and there is no degradation of images.
- Space Savings - Microform lets you store an extensive collection of complete article images in a small amount of space. Microform takes up less than one-tenth the area of bound copies of newspapers and periodicals.
- Ownership - There are no upkeep or access fees. It uses stable, proven technology you already have, with no need for new workstations or continual software upgrades.
- Special Collections - Microform is the answer if you need hard-to-find or specialty resources. Many older newspapers and periodicals are available only in microform, and it gives your users access to complete page images from historical titles—often from the first issue forward.
- Support for Specialized Studies --. A compact collection in microform will meet specialized research needs and still leave plenty of resources for the rest of your population. Many libraries also use microform as an added point of access for content that is most in demand.
- Complete Collection - Microform usually is the best solution if you need a complete collection fast. Maybe you're seeking accreditation or even rebuilding after a disaster. An extensive, customized collection of retrospective and current microform titles will meet the needs of your researchers quickly and efficiently.
- Clarity and Accuracy - Microform is the answer if you need cover-to-cover clarity and accuracy. Full-image articles are essential to getting the full story.
- UMI Quality - UMI's microform images are taken directly from the original printed pages, so you always get the clarity of first-generation copies.
- New Reader/Printer/Scanners - Images also can be sent to remote locations via microform reader/printer/scanners, which digitize the articles and transmit them electronically or fax them automatically. This approach combines the unparalleled preservation and storage benefits of microform with the speed and ease of electronic access.

Microform from UMI is the answer because we've been producing it since 1938. We not only meet or exceed industry standards, we set them. Our microform products include thousands of newspapers and periodicals, and hundreds of research collections, many of which are not available from any other source.
