PROQUEST HISTORICAL NEWSPAPERS™ —

EXTRA! EDITION

Definitive coverage of historical events

PICTURING THE PAST

ProQuest Historical Newspapers—Extra! Edition allows patrons to compare coverage in the same or different newspapers from multiple perspectives through a simplified interface. With Historical Newspapers users get cover-to-cover access to everything the original readers saw—articles, photos, illustrations, obituaries, and more. ■ Students, genealogists, and all types of users can benefit from the diverse coverage and perspectives. ■ Available Historical Newspapers titles include The New York Times (1851-2002); The Wall Street Journal (1889-1988); The Washington Post (1877-1989); The Christian Science Monitor (1908-1992); Los Angeles Times (1881-1984); Chicago Tribune (1849-1984);

Atlanta Constitution (1868-1925); and Boston Globe (1872-1922). ■ The graphical interface accommodates users at any level of expertise. It delivers all the search options of the traditional interface—plus provides editorial content aligned to common interests and research topics. So, patrons spend more time using content, and less time finding it. Search categories include:

- Timeline topic browse
- What happened on?
- Famous Dead People
- This day in history

EXTRA! EDITION

Highlights include:

- Timeline topic browse covers over 320 subtopics, with nearly 1,000 related key events drawn from nearly 14,000 relevant articles from five Historical Newspaper titles. All articles have been carefully selected by our SIRS® editorial experts.
- What happened on lets users see what made the news on a date of importance or personal interest.
- Famous dead people highlights published obituaries and retrospectives of the 500 most-studied people from the past 150 years.
- This day in history showcases a high-impact newspaper front page for each day of the year—designed to immediately engage users in the database content and the use of historical documents through recognizable events.

The simplified graphical interface makes searching easy for everyone.
